University of Missouri – Saint Louis Graduate School

Recommendation for Admission of a Student Not Meeting Regular or Restricted Admission Requirements [G1]

A student may be admitted to pursue a degree program as a REGULAR graduate student or a certificate program as a graduate certificate student if the student's undergraduate GPA and major field GPA are 2.75 or above and if the student's test scores place him or her generally above the 50th percentile.

A student with an undergraduate GPA of 2.5 to 2.75 who does not present supporting evidence sufficiently strong to justify admission as a Regular graduate student may be admitted as a RESTRICTED graduate student.

In instances where the department or school requests that a student be admitted [Regular or Restricted] who does not meet the academic standard for the particular category involved, the department or school shall indicate below the reasons for the recommendation.
