

Doctor of Philosophy Criminology and Criminal Justice

Degree Program

- Coursework: A minimum of 60 credit hours is required, including 12 hours of dissertation research.
- Qualifying Examination: The qualifying examination consists of two sole-authored papers. One of the papers must represent the application of an appropriate methodological technique to an innovative research question, and the other must demonstrate a proficient knowledge of and a new perspective on a fundamental theoretical issue.
- Dissertation: All students must defend orally a written dissertation proposal to their dissertation committee. A dissertation embodying the results of original research must be accepted by the faculty and the Graduate School.
